

Farmer Day, Narmada Irrigation Research Project, Khandha

A "Farmer day" was organized at Narmada Irrigation Research Project, Khandha (Dist. Vadodara) on 19/02/2016. Dr. N. C. Patel, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor of Anand Agricultural University inaugurated the event. Dr. K. B. Kathiria, Director of Research of Anand Agricultural University and Prof. R. B. Maravia, Executive Director (Agri.) from Sardar Sarovar Narmada Nigam Ltd., Gandhinagar were present as guest of honour.

More than 400 farmers of the region actively participated in the event. They were demonstrated various field experiments as well as recommendations related to irrigation technology for various crops. Stalls of Krushigovidya (DEE), Pulse (Vadodara), Drip Irrigation (Netafim and Jain Irrigation) were arranged displaying released varieties and other technologies developed by the respective centres/companies.

Experts of various fields in agriculture as well as veterinary faculty delivered talks, interacted and replied the questions raised by the farmers.
