

Training programme on “Food Processing Technology” jointly organized by College of FPTBE, AAU, Anand and ATMA Project, Vadodara for farm women of Shinor Taluka of Vadodara district

College of Food Processing Technology and Bio Energy, Anand Agricultural University, Anand and ATMA Project, Vadodara have jointly organized a three days training programme on "Food Processing Technology" from 09-10-2019 to 11-10-2019. In this training programme, 41 farm women from Shinor taluka of Vadodara district have been participated.

In the beginning, Dr.S.S.Kapdi, Professor & Head (Bio Energy Department) has welcomed all trainees & gave guidance about importance of post harvest in food processing sector. After that, the subject experts delivered power point presentations/lectures on various topics such as rice milling, selection & maintenance of machineries in food processing sector, various aspects of establishing industry in food processing sector, value addition by drying in food processing. Various demonstrations like tomato processing & its by products, preparation of gulabjamun, canning and snacks lines working under Incubation Centre, household use of solar cooker, preparation of squash from fruit, hands on experience for bakery product have been also demonstrated. On last day, women trainees have been visited food industry named Sweety Industries, Nadiad & AMUL dairy.

This entire training programme was successfully organized by Dr.S.S.Kapdi (Training Incharge) and Er.J.P.Rathod under the guidance of Dr.R.F.Sutar, Officer on Special Duty, College of FPTBE, AAU, Anand.

Lectures/demonstrations taken by experts to the women farmers of Shinor taluka of Vadodara district

