

Organization of farmers training programme on “Spices Crop Technology” at Agricultural Research Station, AAU, Arnej

A one day training programme was organized at Agricultural Research Station, AAU, Arnej on 24/01/2017 under the centrally sponsored scheme “Mission on Intergraded Development Horticulture (MIDH)” in collaboration with ATMA, Ahmedabad. In this training programme about 70 cumin and dilseed growers from different villages of Dholka taluka were remained present and participated in the programme. Sh. B. V. Hirpara, Assistant Research Scientist, Department of Medicine and Aeromatic plants, B. A. College of Agriculture, AAU, Anand was remained present and imparted the training to the farmers. Dr. D. B. Sisodiya, Associate Research Scientist as well as Sh. H. B. Patel, Assistant Research Scientist, Agricultural Research Station, AAU, Arnej had addressed the farmers and provided the information about management of various insect pests and disease of spices and its improved varieties. Sh. P. R. Chaudhary, Sh. S. B. Vinzuda, Senior Research Assistant; and Sh. R. K. Patel, Research Associate had imparted training to the farmers on the cultivation of spices, irrigation management and fertilizer management in spices, respectively. Farmers had also visited the godowns where spices have been stored which was followed by field visit of cumin fields. Sh. P. M. Makwana, Sh. V. P. Brahmbhatt, Sh. A. K. Vihol and Sh. P. R. Dodiya took part in the field and godown visit. All the farmers were happy by participating in the training progarmme.

